SUMMER MAY BE OVER
BUT ITS NOT TOO LATE TO SHOW SOME SKIN...

SKIN FERMENTED WINES

White wines that have extended contact with their skins during fermentation are sometimes referred to as orange wines. This extra skin contact gives a distinguished orange color.

As a result, orange wines tend to have more texture, tannins and complexity. They are wonderfully aromatic, with honey & spice notes and a nice backbone of acidity that all add up to a savory glass of wine. Many of these wines are made in very traditional styles with native yeasts and no filtration. The epicenter of the orange wine world is Friuli-Venezia-Giulia in Northeast Italy, but these ancient winemaking techniques are also used in other parts of Italy, Slovenia, California, & Long Island.

With these discussion-worthy wines you'll treat your palate to an entirely new experience. Orange wines can be remarkably paired with food, each one surprisingly different than the next.

ENJOY A TASTE THAT'S AS VIVID AS IT LOOKS!
